EDITORIAL

Hi kids,

Well, we've got a whalloping issue for you. I'm so glad that my good friend John sent a photo clipping of the recent bit on ChrYSIS in the New York Post. Many of you have asked after her and I'm sure that she will both love and hate seeing these fun photos of herself here. She really was my closest friend and we did get in sooo much trouble together. Sondra Bernhard and Madonna have nothing on us.

As I am writing this editorial I am scheduling the shoot for page 18. Our dear friend La Rey has sent us this young contestant to give a "dry run" to. I'd love to tell you more about it but I have to get the scoop myself. It should prove to be interesting.

Our main layout this issue is on Coco. Many of the people I have worked with are fun loving and kind. But Coco was really an extraordinary example of the combination of toughness and warmth that so often comes with the transgendered personality. She has a wonderful sense of humor that comes through in her photos. I hope you all enjoy her as much as I do.

Well here we are deep into summer and I haven't been to the beach yet! I'm packing up the towel and the tanning lotion and getting this pale blonde skin a lovely golden tan. Maybe I'll lighten my hair just a touch until fall. What do you think?

*Happy summer,
Kim*

UPDATE
International
ChrYSIS

Kim's New York years were fraught with the ups and downs of show business life. But in all the glitter and gloom one light always shined out, Chrysis. Like sisters, they fought their battles together and shared both victories and defeats. Here for your enjoyment, Chrysis.

CHRYSIS: spokes-person

CANDICE Bergen uses Cie. Joan Collins splashes on Spectacular. And Elizabeth Taylor has Passion. But International Chrysis, one of the world's top drag queens, uses Evere, the new women's fragrance from Erno Laslo. Chrysis helped launch the perfume at the Tower Gallery, singing such standards as "Daddy "and "Making Whoopee" in a '30s Hungarian cabaret setting in honor of the late founder of the cosmetics company.

Chrysis is the product of an upperclass prep school education, like many east coast folks. Chrysis speaks French fluently and is the toast of the New York nightclub scene.

Letters to the Editor

If you wish to write to Kim and possibly have your letter published please send all correspondence to F.M.I., POB 1622, Studio City, CA 91604. All letters sent are considered for unconditional publication unless otherwise specified. If you wish to have your pictures published as well, please see the new requirements for models releases and ID on page 39.

Not Alone

Dear Kim,

"EUREKA! I have found it. THANK YOU. Thank You, and thank you again for publishing Female Mimics International." With those words, I opened my letter to you five years ago when I found my first every edition of F.M.I. For some reason which I do not now recall, I never mailed that letter, but the words are still true today when I have every subsequent issue safely locked away in my collection.

Kim, you asked for reader's suggestions as to the types of projects we would like to see in your magazine in the future. So, here is one "girl's" opinion:

Fiction. The stories you have been printing from The Sissy Times are just right. No sex, either hetero or gay, just stories about crossdressers' adventures as they live their daily lives. We both know that statistics are just not available on CDs due mainly to the propensity of most of us to stay close to the closet. However, from what I have been able to gather, homosexuality and transvestism are not tied together. Rather, gays appear to be represented among CDs in about the same proportion as they are in the general population, i.e., somewhere between 10 and 25 percent. I would like to see this become the target ratio for any sexual content of your future stories and articles.

Orientation. There are many sexually oriented magazines published for the straight and GALA populations. Please try to keep F.M.I. "The Original Magazine For Men Who Enjoy Dressing Like Women!" Make sex of whatever orientation secondary to that and leave out most of the pictures of "hunks" who happen to go to an event you are covering (see pages 22 & 23 or No. 49; those four extra pictures of writhing muscles left me cold and degraded the article.)

"We know that statistics are just not available on crossdressers."

Reader Photos. Of course, we all prefer to look at pictures of really pretty, young things such as Tracy (No. 49, Page 14) and Micki (F-644); they are definitely the most successful of our breed. However, pictures of all readers who are tastefully crossdressed and made up should be published together with your helpful hints as to how each could improve her appearance. This would not only help the subject of the picture, but those of us who are making the same mistakes. Please think about refusing all shots which show male genitalia in the ads as well as in the articles.

Future Articles. I would really like to see a pictorial on two (cross)dressed TVs going shopping. You could show them window shopping, picking out clothes, going to lunch, facing the bathroom problem, trying on shoes, making their purchases and finally going home in their new finery. Besides showing them going to such stores as Bullocks and Broadway, you could also show them going to Lydia's TV Boutique, Versatile Fashions and other specialty shops in the L.A. area. (This last coverage might even lead to some continuing advertising income for the magazine.)

Kim, thank you again for publishing your great magazine. It is often a lifesaver for me. Any time that I begin to feel that I am all alone in the world, I can review an old copy of F.M.I. or run to the book store for the new issue and remind myself that I have many sisters out there even if circumstances prevent me from contacting them directly. I hope that the above suggestions are helpful and do not step on anyone's toes; they are intended to be constructive and, hopefully, helpful to you.

Sincerely,
Barb

Dear Barb,

Thanks for the good words. Sorry about the hunk photos. Actually you are the first to write with any displeasure. How about it readers? What's your opinion? Tina said that she thinks it makes the girls look that much more feminine. I tend to agree. When you see them coming down the runway arm in arm, it's shocking to realize that they are both the same sex. And yes, we will be more discreet about genitalia showing in the personal ads.

Thanks again,
Kim

24 Hours a Day

Dear Kim,

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for all the good work that you and your magazine have done for the crossdressing community.

Everytime that I pick up a copy of your magazine I am amazed at the quality of the information that you put into it. I just wish that there was some way for me to be able to live as a woman 24-hours a day. To me there is no better feeling in the world as to be in the nicest female attire that you can put on and be able to enjoy it to the fullest.

I hope in the near future that this will become possible for me to do as I am ready to get a place of my own and hope to find a job with someone that will accept me coming to work as a female for them.

Again I would like to thank you for your great magazine and keep up the good work.

Love,
Paula

Dear Paula,

Thank you and keep up the good reading.

Loves Francine

Dear Kim,

My name is Craig. I am writing to say that I ordered the photo set of Francine. I got the photos the same day that my brother came over. My brother came over to my house at the same time that I was looking at the photos of Francine. He was knocking at my door, so I put the photos down on the table. He came into the living room and saw the photo of Francine (the photo of her with all her clothing on), and said that she is a very foxy-looking lady. He did not get to see the rest of the photos, but he loved the photo of Francine he did get to see.

When I opened the package with the photos in it, the first photo that I saw was the photo of her with all her clothing on. I was in love with her the moment I saw that photo of her. Then I said, "There is no way that she could have been a man at birth! No way!" But, when I saw the rest of the photos, I said, "WOW! That is one wild lady!" I really loved it and her.

I would really love to know if there are more photos of her other than the photo set of her that is offered in the back of F.M.I. magazines. I see there is a back issue of her that I am going to order when I get done writing to you, Kim.

Kim, I think that you are a very foxy lady too!!!!

Love,
Craig

Dear Craig,

We're so glad that you enjoyed Francine. She is quite a looker and she has a unique and lively quality as well. Often the most beautiful of the models that appear in the magazine have an aloof and remote look. But Francine has the look of a spitfire, doesn't she?

Keep writing,
Kim

The Big Hurrah

Dear Kim,

I want to tell you just how addicted to F.M.I. I am. I look forward to each and every issue, but I always miss an issue or two because it's tough for me to get to a store where it is sold. I would like to subscribe, but that would not be possible as with so many others like us — our families wouldn't understand. This would mean getting a second P.O. box and that would be somewhat too clandestine. That leaves me to no other alternative than to search for F.M.I. at adult bookstores. This I loath to do for a number of reasons, but it truly is a long drive

"How lucky women are in their beautiful bodies and svelte clothing."

in the area to find the right store. A number of adult bookstores are gone in the Sacramento area which hampers my search. This leads me to a suggestion for you and I (and others like me) — why can't we purchase F.M.I. at a regular newsstand? I realize there are laws and zoning regulations — but it may just involve a simple name change! Think about it for a second:

Many of us who can't always find F.M.I. will be able to now . . .

Some of us who are opposed to frequenting adult bookstores won't have to . . .

Your circulation will probably go up!

You may get new readers/converts if you are in the larger newsstands in larger cities, i.e., Sacramento, San Francisco, etc.

Speaking of converts — this is what caught me and kindled the woman within me several years ago. In 1973 (Oct.) an article appeared in Time magazine about a teacher who was fired for coming to work one day after a couple of weeks off dressed in a skirt and as a woman. I believe it was the third week of Oct. 1973 — but the pictures of before and after just had the most lasting impression on me to say the least — why can't I look like that?!

Due to my job and family matters I cannot be the female I'd like to. So I must settle for knowing that I am a TS and will always be a woman in a man's body and ugly men's clothes. I would love to look as good as Debbie Shelton does in Body Double as she walks through the shopping mall and changes her panties in the women's lingerie shop! How lucky women are in their beautiful bodies and their svelte clothing! Nevertheless, I will be content to marvel at the success of those who are free to change their lives accordingly. I envy them! I am thankful that TS articles are becoming more frequent in the media and that it is in the open more than ever. I have a degree and almost a MS, I have traveled extensively to the Pacific and to England, and have searched there for information on transsexuals. There is no doubt transsexualism cuts across all of humanity. I am of a conservative nature but I have always defended the rights of TSs in conversations when the subject has arisen. For example, I have "Tula, I am a Woman" I purchased in London — what a story and what a fine specimen of womanhood! There is a lot of misery in the world today because of the uneducated general population. That is changing and much of that is due perhaps to people like you who are getting the word out! Now for my main pitch in writing to you, Kim . . .

There are many TSs out here besides you and your staff. There are many who may not know of you and F.M.I. and whose stirrings of transsexualism may mature and flower if they could see your magazine — but it's just not that accessible. I know the law is one thing, but I've also thought of this. I frequent a bookstore/newsstand in a city of about 25,000. They have several soft porn magazines including Nugget and three or four gay men's magazines (I do not know the titles as I am not gay and uninterested. But, what is the difference between the life-style portrayed in the gay mags and F.M.I.? For that matter, Nugget has TS articles and up until a few years ago had pictures of TSs in it (and some of them were quite nice "ladies"). Isn't there a way for you to enter this bookstand world? It may involve a slight change/alter of format — but I don't detect any difference between all the other men's mags and F.M.I.! You may be well aware of this already. I wish whatever obstacles there are to getting F.M.I. on a larger circulation could be overcome! Is there a chance we could ever see you on a monthly basis?

Your magazine is done so well with a good balance between featured photos of TSs such as the latest of Pocahontas. I really went nuts when you had Morelle several months ago. I hope you can find more of these people — TSs like Morelle — before or after. I realize many wish anonymity, but those who don't and appear in F.M.I. or publish their own books such as Tula, bring joy to other TSs who have not been so fortunate. I might be assuming much here as I know many readers are TVs and wish to stay that way. But how many of them realize they are really female inside once they begin with their first pair of panties or pantyhose and go on to become women?

Although I usually don't count the pages, it seems like F.M.I. is getting bigger. It seems like there are even more pictures of wonderful TSs in the personal ad section — this is great — I hope even more TSs start sending in their photos! Also I like the availability of back issues of F.M.I. and VCR tapes you have. If they get any better and numerous I may have to get a separate P. O. box to receive them.

Finally, let me make a suggestion — to which you solicited a few issues ago on subject matter for future issues and VCR material. I can see a real audience and profit in this as you seem to be the best and most versatile source for the anxious and longing TV/TS public:

— Do some more interviews and photo sessions with F.I.s from the nightclubs such as Finocchio's in San Francisco and other cities such as L.A., Chicago, or N.Y. Even include it on VCR or even make a tape on F.I.s from S.F., L.A., N.Y., etc.

— Find some TSs (and I'll let you know a lot, Kim) who are willing to be interviewed. For example, there are several young ladies and future ladies-to-be who have appeared on national TV recently — so they are already out. HBO ran a feature called "What sex am I?" and one very nice TS, "Kathy," was featured from around the Houston, Texas area. She was just great. But they never showed enough of her in woman's clothing telling her story. I'd love to see her before and after, now as a post-op TS. Likewise, Geraldo has had 2 or 3 shows featuring TSs recently. I can't recall one pre-op TSs' name but she was an impressive blond call-girl named Brittany who was just a knockout (again the stirrings of why can't I look like that?).

— In the way of fiction may I suggest some kind of plot in which a peeping Tom watches a certain girl sunbathe only to discover "she" has a male part between her legs as he peeks through a telescope towards her apartment. Then he sees her after her operation.

Personally, I would have started the change when in college or in high school, to have stopped the hard masculine lines from forming. I would much rather have enjoyed soft feminine thighs and hips and a narrow waist and developing breasts — but I am much too old now with my muscled male body. So, wouldn't it be erotic to see a story on a young male who becomes feminized in one or several ways? Nugget magazine printed a letter several years ago (maybe 1983), from a mother in the Denver area, who forced her son into becoming a shapely young lass complete with figure and name change and estrogen from a doctor. What a wonderful story to dig up and be available for less fortunate TS people! Or you could do a college-age scene where a young man begins to feminize in front of his class and gets the help of several girls who, of course, "play with" him while he's still a she-male. But, also show them coaching him on how to be a girl — dressing, makeup, hair, mannerisms, and how to put on a bra as his breasts develop. I think the possibilities are endless and, of course, there is the biggest issue — money — but I think that with your Kim Christy good taste, you could do it! Try it! I think you'd be surprised at the response you'd get from closet TSs seeing the young TS waking in the morning, getting dressed, going to class or working at the office, just being one of the "girls," and coming home, undressing for a bath, etc.

Kim, please don't think I am telling you how to run your magazine — I only want to see more of it, and giving you and your staff food for thought. There is a real demand for TS magazines because F.M.I. disappears quickly at the store I go to.

Thank you, Kim, keep up the work!
Karen

Dear Karen,

Well, you've written an overwhelming amount of material to respond to, so to be fair to the others I am going to write on what I can and leave the rest for hypothesis.

Here are a few of the reasons that we don't go "Newsstand." We would drastically reduce our printing quality. We would drastically reduce our editorial control. And finally, there is not the demand.

Sometimes I get the impression from your letters that some of you think we are a huge company with limitless resources. I admit sometimes I like to think we are and will hint at it editorially. But this is nothing more than my own Helen Gurley Brown fantasies and the truth is that we are a modest company and staffed by very few, very hard working people.

I agree that we should do more interviews. Where we run into problems is not in finding beautiful intelligent TVs and TSs to interview, but in getting them to be entirely frank. Most very passable girls do not like to divulge their roots. It tends to hurt families and close ones and quite honestly, they are through with the past.

Thank you for your spirited suggestions. Please don't feel that I am in disagreement with you. If I sound grouchy, it's because you have touched on my own fantasies and desires that for the time being, can not be met.

Best,
Kim

What I Like

Dear Kim,

Please forgive my delay in writing, but life being what it is, things take time until you get around to doing them, so . . .

I'd like to reply to your request in Vol. 18, No. 2, as to what I'd like to see in F.M.I..

I enjoy your photo sessions involving F.I.s & TVs who are pre-silicone/pre-hormone, I'd like to see less "she-males." I especially enjoy your transformation and "behind the scenes" sequences, especially the step-by-step scenes, where guys become progressively more beautiful girls.

I also enjoy your articles on contests and pageants, although I wish you'd show more events away from the West Coast. Your "Vintage F.M.I." and "Do's and Don'ts" are good as well.

As to what I'd like to see, I'd enjoy seeing scenes from the many F.I. shows running all over the country (as well as in Europe — if you'd like, I can give you suggestions . . .), especially if you include some scenes before & during the show backstage. I'd like to see more romantic pictorials of well-known F.I.s & TVs.

I'm not particularly attracted to your fiction or letters sections, although I'd enjoy seeing well-done photos. I don't like the B&D or submission-type material you publish.

I'd like it if you'd publish more articles on F.I. & TV organizations throughout the country: where they are, what they do, which I think would help create a sense of community.

I'd like, nonetheless, to congratulate you, as F.M.I. is the best magazine I've found in the TV-F.I. community. No other comes close in terms of quality and taste, which will surely improve as readers write in their ideas.

Thank you so much for coordinating, with taste and imagination, this fine publication.

Keep it up!
L.

P.S. I've had to travel into midtown Manhattan to get my copies of F.M.I. Do you have any distributors in eastern Queens or western Nassau, closer to where I live?

Dear Reader,

Thanks for the response, all the way from Spain! I take it you are on business for I can hardly imagine going from Spain to Queens for a copy of F.M.I.

I am glad that these responses are still dribbling in as it confirms that most of our readers enjoy what we are doing already.

As far as getting issues where you live, why not subscribe? It saves time and money and you often get the issue before anyone else does.

Best,
Kim

Dressing For The Ball!

These are a couple of shots from an upcoming shoot in FMI. This lovely young thing will be transformed beyond your wildest dreams. Then she will be whisked off to be a contestant in LaRey's annual Universal Ball.

A Side Trip

COCO

Coco has made a splash on the scene. Her luminescent skin is glowing from the pages of magazines and video screens. Her variety of looks and faces are gracing some of the higher quality TV/TS material available today.

We met Coco a few months back when she came with Angel Harris to do her she-male solo for us. As we watched Angel knock them dead on the video screen in the small control room, we also felt our eyes being averted to the Cleopatra-like beauty sitting next to us.

COCO

Coco, who wore simply jeans, a sweater and a fedora over he long black hair, was so passable and so elegant that she only had to wear a trace of make-up. Her skin was flawless and from as close as three feet away she looks airbrushed.

Coco

A very bright and lively person she tends to shy away from the typical hazards that befall the girls in "The Life." Not the late night party-girl stereotype, she is just as happy to sit at home and entertain a friend or two and loves a long quiet evening with a good book.

coco

Coco

Now you may find it as hard as we did to look at these glamorous poses and sexually exciting situations and imagine that this is a bookworm. "Oh, my dear," she cooed at us, "when I come to do work for you I live out the WILD side of my personality. I lead a very calm life and the odd moments that I come out and do these outrageous things are fun, but I don't consider it who I really am at all. It's like a vacation from myself. A side trip, you know?"

Petticoat Memories

by Denise S.

When I was ten years old I shared a bedroom with my sixteen-year-old sister. This was in the 1950's and we were living in an older home in the city. The wiring was old and we had a fire that destroyed part of the house, necessitating the doubling up on bedrooms for nearly a year until renovations were completed.

My sister was less than enthusiastic about my moving in with her but we got along fine most of the time.

Like most teenage girls who are sixteen Gwen had developed quite an interest in boys and was already dating. She was an attractive girl with long brown hair, a good figure and a perfect complexion. In her senior year she was the Homecoming Queen.

Gwen was always very particular about her appearance and her wardrobe. She loved to wear makeup and was constantly fighting with mother over how much makeup was proper for a girl of sixteen. Gwen was always grooming her nails and working with her hair.

The teenage fashions of that era featured long full skirts and dresses which in 1952-53 were worn over stiff crinoline petticoats.

Gwen had several sets of crinolines in her closet. In fact, when I moved in, mother wanted to take the crinolines out of the closet to make room for some of my things but Gwen wouldn't hear of it. She had mother put some of her dresses in the basement rather than part with those crinolines.

When I first moved into Gwen's room she never let me see her undressed and would change in the bathroom. But as time passed she became a little freer in her behavior and allowed me to see her in her underwear.

Whenever we were in the room together and she was getting dressed or undressed I tried to act unconcerned and look the other way. But, the truth was, I was fascinated with Gwen's developing body and the clothing she wore on it.

And the garments that most intrigued me were the crinoline petticoats. I marvelled at the shape they imparted to Gwen's girlish figure and the constantly rustling sound they made whenever she moved. I liked the way they swung to and fro when she walked and the way they billowed up at the sides when she sat down. Most of all I loved seeing the ribbons and lace decorations sewn into the hems of the various layers of petticoats as they peeked out under Gwen's skirt.

Gwen loved wearing crinolines as long as they were in style and did so every opportunity she got. I can remember her talking about crinolines with one of her girlfriends who lived across the street. Once when she was going out on a big date with a football star she put on three extra petticoats to make six altogether and could hardly get through the front door when he came to pick her up.

Many sissies will remember the so-called Poodle skirt of the 1950's. Gwen's favorite skirt for a sock hop was her Trolley skirt, so-called because it was decorated with a chain of trolley cars embroidered around the hem. The skirt was pink and the trolleys were done in white with black accents.

Shortly after I moved into Gwen's room I began to experiment with Gwen's clothing. I had to be very discreet and choose my times carefully. I couldn't bear the thought of being caught dressing in my sister's clothing.

At first I played with her panties and bras. Eventually I graduated to skirts and blouses. Crinolines were a step away but I shyed away from them because I knew how important they were to Gwen and how careful she was with them.

As time passed I began to focus more and more on those crinolines in my fantasies. Several times I contemplated putting them on only to be interrupted by Gwen's return or the intrusion of another family member. There was no lock on the bedroom door and I knew I would have to wait until everyone was out of the house. However, in a family of seven, those opportunities were rare.

This short confessional is from the pages produced by Sharon Anne Stuart at the Sissy Times. This is a delightful journal and back issues can be published through our catalog on the following pages.

One night Gwen came home from a dance. She had worn her crinolines and Trolley skirt. I pretended to be asleep when she came in. Out of half-closed eyes I watched her disrobe and get dressed in her nightgown. She carefully hung the crinolines in her closet, pinning them to the hangers with safety pins.

I must lay there over an hour waiting for Gwen to fall asleep. Several times when I thought she was dead to the world she stirred or turned over. Finally I heard her softly snoring at long intervals.

I got up ever so slowly so that the springs on my ancient bunk bed would not awaken her with their squeaking. I got on my feet and taking small steps and keeping an eye on Gwen I moved toward her closet. Half an eternity later I stood before the closet door. I removed my pajamas carefully and flung them across the room to land with a flutter beside my bed. I was now naked.

When I first opened the closet door it made a loud creak. Gwen stirred and I froze in my tracks. I waited a few minutes and then resumed my odyssey. Somehow I managed to get that closet door open with a minimum of noise and there directly in front of me in all their splendor was a set of crinoline petticoats.

I struggled with the safety pins and made some more noise getting the crinolines unfastened from the hanger but eventually I had the garments in my grasp.

Now I had to traverse the room again. I wanted to be out of Gwen's immediate range of vision when I tried the crinolines on in case she woke up. That way I might have a chance to hide before she saw me. Also, there was a wall mirror on my side of the room and more than anything else I wanted to see what I would look like wearing a crinoline petticoat.

I was in a very excited state when I finally stepped into the top of the crinolines and slowly pulled them upward. The waistband was elastic and I had no problem getting the garment on. In fact, Gwen's crinoline was a size or two too large for me but the effect was nevertheless as I had fantasized. I reveled in that feeling for a few minutes before removing the garment and returning it to its place in Gwen's closet.

The memories of this experience with my sister's crinolines stayed with me for years. For many years I did not crossdress actively but I thought about it frequently.

Eventually I got married and began experimenting with my wife's clothing just as I had done so with Gwen's. I used to fantasize about my wife dominating me and forcing me to dress as a woman but nothing of the sort ever happened and she never knew I was a transvestite.

My marriage ended some years ago and I began to crossdress regularly and acquire my own female wardrobe. I have a complete wardrobe but my favorite female garment is the petticoat and I have more petticoats than I have dresses. My collection includes several sets of crinolines including a set I purchased at a garage sale that date back to the 1950's. This set is very similar to the set that Gwen wore.

I mainly dress up in private but lately I have been going out in the evening dressed as a woman to drive somewhere or go for a short walk. I love to wear a full skirt with a frilly petticoat and feel the air swirling around under my skirts. Women don't know how lucky they are to be able to dress in such lovely clothes.
